

Sean Cervera

Sean Cervera (he/him/el), a University of Redlands legacy, graduated from the University of Redlands with a BS in Business Administration in 2011 - exactly 30 years apart from when his father graduated from the University of Redlands with a BA in Biology. While a student at the University of Redlands, Sean was a Community Assistant, a member of FIE, President of Sigma Kappa Alpha, ran the Annual Giving Student Operations, and held various positions on the Inter-Fraternity Council (IFC) as well as ASUR. Since graduation, Sean has spent the last 14+ years in Silicon Valley, working for brands like Apple, Google, SpaceX, UBER, LinkedIn, Facebook/Meta, Cruise AV, and most recently Niantic - the company that produces Pokémon Go. Sean has dedicated his career to building more diverse and inclusive cultures, shattering systemic oppression while architecting equitable hiring practices that fundamentally change the face of STEM and Tech. Sean is currently the Global Head of Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, Culture and Justice at Niantic, where he oversees this work in partnership with their parent company, Scopely.